

Statutes of Upper-Canada, Passed in the third session of the second provincial parliament (1798). From The Provincial Statutes of Upper-Canada: Revised, Corrected, and Republished (York, R. C. Horne, 1818.)

38 George III – Chapter 2

An Act to repeal an Ordinance passed in the twenty-fifth year of the Reign of His present Majesty, intituled, “An Ordinance concerning Advocates, Attornies, Solicitors and Notaries, and for the more easy Collection of His Majesty’s Revenues, as far as the same relates to Notaries.” (5th July, 1798.)

Whereas the provisions of an Ordinance passed in the twenty-fifth year of the reign of His present Majesty, intituled, “An Ordinance Concerning Advocates, Attornies, Solicitors and Notaries, and for the more easy collection of His Majesty’s Revenues,” have been so far as the same relates to Notaries, found inconvenient and inapplicable to this Province, Be it enacted by the King’s Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and Assembly of the Province of Upper Canada, constituted and assembled by virtue of and under the authority of an Act passed in the Parliament of Great Britain, intituled, “An Act to repeal certain parts of an Act passed in the fourteenth year of His Majesty’s Reign, intituled, ‘An Act for making more effectual provision for the Government of the Province of Quebec, in North America, and to make further provision for the Government of the said Province,’” and by the authority of the same, That the same shall be, and hereby is, so far as it relates to Notaries, repealed.
