43 George III – Chapter 2

An Act in addition to, and amendment of, an Act, passed in the Fortieth year of His Majesty's reign, entitled, "An Act for the better regulating the Inferior Court of Common Pleas, and General Sessions of the Peace, for the County of Annapolis."

Whereas it is expedient that a court or session house should be erected in the western district of the county of Annapolis, in which to hold the courts of our Lord the King, appointed to be held in that part of the county of Annapolis:

I. Be it therefore enacted, by the Lieutenant-Governor, Council and Assembly, that it shall be lawful for the grand jury, for the county of Annapolis, at the court of assize held for the said county, to make presentment of such sum or sums of money as may be expedient to be raised for the building or repairing a court or sessions house, in such part of said district as the grand jury for the said county shall appoint; which sum or sums of money so presented, shall be assessed, raised, levied, proportioned and paid, in manner as is prescribed by an act, passed in the fifth year of his present Majesty's reign, entitled, "An Act for raising money by presentment, on the several counties of this Province, for the defraying certain county charges therein mentioned."

III. And be it further enacted, that such money shall be applied for and towards the purpose for which the same is presented, in such manner, by such person or persons, and under such regulations, as the said court shall order in that behalf.

IV. And whereas, it is found inconvenient to hold the summer sessions of the inferior court of common pleas and general sessions of the peace, of the county of Annapolis, at Digby, on the third Tuesday of June: be it enacted by the authority aforesaid, that, from and after the passing of this act, the said court and general sessions shall be held, annually, on the second Tuesday of June, and not on the third Tuesday of June, as heretofore accustomed.
