XLV. And be it further enacted, That whenever the Militia or any part thereof shall be called into actual service, it shall and may be lawful for the Officer commanding any Battalion, detachment, or party to impress boats, men, horses and teams, as the service may require.

Commanding Officers of Militia may impress boats, men and horses.

XLVI. And be it further enacted, That whenever it shall be rendered necessary by any attack made or threatened, suddenly to be made in any sea-port, City, Town or other place, at or in the harbour of which any Merchant ships or vessels may be lying, the Officer commanding the Militia is hereby authorized and fully empowered to compel the persons belonging to such ships or vessels to do duty on shore with the Militia Artillery, if any such there be, or in any boats or vessels, or

In case of attack on any sea-port or place where Merchant vessels are lying, the Officer commanding Militia may compel the persons belonging to such vessels to do duty on shore, or in any boat or vessel.

with any part of the Militia where they can be the most usefully employed in resisting the attack of the enemy, and that in case of any great emergency which may render the service of Artillery-men necessary, the Officer commanding any Battalion to which there may be an Artillery Company, may require the service of the whole, or a part of such Artillery Company as he may judge necessary, although the numbers required may exceed the proportion of men wanted or required from the rest of the Battalion, and so in like manner with any Company of Sea-fencibles, or any or either of the flank Companies.

The whole of any Artillery, Sea-fencible or flank Company, may be ordered for duty when necessary.

XLVI. And be it further enacted, That the commissioned Officers of the Militia when on actual service and doing duty in Garrison, or in the field with His MAJESTY'S regular or fencible forces, shall rank with the Officers of such forces as the youngest of their degree, and that the said Officers of the regular and fencible forces in this Province, and the Officers of the Militia shall be entitled reciprocally to command and be subject to be commanded in the same manner as is provided by the Laws of Great-Britain and the Articles of War, for the government of the regular and Militia forces thereof, and subject to the like pains and penalties on the part of the Officers of Militia as are herein-before prescribed by the thirty-first and thirty-second sections of this Act.

Militia Officers doing duty with His Majesty's regular forces to take rank as youngest of their degree.

XLVII. And be it further enacted, That if any person be wounded or disabled when on actual service, he shall be taken care of and provided for at the expence of the Province, during his disability.

Persons disabled to be provided for at the expence of the Province.

XLVIII. And be it further enacted, That any person sued for any thing done in the execution of his duty under and by virtue of this Act, may plead the general issue, and under such be at liberty at the time of trial to give any special matter in evidence in like manner as if such matter had been fully and specially pleaded, and that no action whatever shall be maintainable against any such person for any such cause, unless commenced within six months from the time of the act done, for which any such action may be brought.

Persons sued for any thing done in the execution of their duty under this Act, may plead the general issue and give special matter in evidence.

No suit maintainable unless commenced within six months.

XLIX. And be it further enacted, That the Governor or Commander-in-Chief may at his pleasure constitute and establish one or more troops, or such a number of Cavalry as he may judge expedient for the good of the service, and under such regulations as he may deem proper to make, which regulations so made, and under which the persons shall voluntarily enroll themselves, shall be equally binding as if the same were inserted in this Act, and subject to the like pains and penalties for breach of the same, as are herein before provided for others belonging to the Militia.

Commander in Chief may establish troops of Cavalry under such regulations as he may deem proper.

L. And be it further enacted, That Clerks employed in the Military Offices, who have been announced as such in General orders, shall be altogether exempt from doing Militia duty, and also from the payment of the exempt money.

Clerks in the Military Offices exempted from Militia service.

LI. And be it further enacted, That no Non-commissioned Officer or Private, shall be liable to be arrested upon any process or execution whatsoever, (other than for some criminal matter) while attending any training of the Battalion or division thereof to which he may belong, or doing duty upon real service, or marching to or returning from the place ap-
